SPEAKER, LEADER, WRITER

WOMANARS® is a fun term I created to describe webinars, seminars, workshops and programs designed to inspire, educate and connect women around the world.

I'm known as "The Alchemist of Courage & Confidence", I teach women how to transform fear into action and limiting beliefs into unlimited possibilities by aligning with their Higher Self using Spirituality and Positive Psychology practices, which increase their courage and confidence.

People have described me as "fearless" for doing what most people only dream of doing like leaving a cushy six-figure income to start my own business and selling my home to travel and work around the world. The truth is I spent the first half of my life in anger, fear and shame due to traumatic events. I authentically tell my personal stories of transformation with audiences of all ages and sizes.

I offer a suite of products and services to organizations, businesses and individuals who want to collaborate and equip women to thrive.
